Sri A. BHEEMAPPA NAIK.—That question arises later after the receipt of the report. Whether he has done his duty as stated by the Hon'ble Minister, is a different question. But originally he could not have inspected the cots, is it not? Was there no possibility of his inspecting the articles before the reports were received?

Sri T. CHANNIAH.—No. If he had only minded, he could have done it, but he has not done so. The Superintendents in their report have stated that they are not according to the original specifications.
